G.T.P. BILL CARRIED

Tremendous Majority for the New Road

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).

Ottawa, April 21.—The amended G. T. Pacific resolution was carried at 2 a.m. by a vote of 116 to 61.

The Premier made an effective closing speech, replying to the complaints of Mr. Borden that the Grand Trunk Pacific would not carry any freight to the Maritime ports instead of Portland. He said that if Western freight would not go to Maritime Province ports under the government scheme, it could much less under the proposition of Mr. Borden, which contemplated no connection with these ports. The government believed that they had made an arrangement that would be carried out in this particular. The opposition presented no means of meeting the case.

FIGHTING IN MANCHURIA

London, April 20.—A dispatch to the Central News from St. Petersburg, says it is reported that a Japanese force has landed near New Chwang.

Port Arthur, Tuesday, April 19.—Delayed in transmission.—All is quiet throughout this district.

It is positively asserted that a Japanese cruiser was sunk off Port Arthur on April 15th, and that the Japanese armored cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga were damaged respectively above and below the water line.

Nagasaki, April 20.—11 a.m.—Contact mines have been found floating seaward forty miles from Cape Shang Fung. Three of them were discovered and destroyed by the Japanese fleet. Cape Shung Fung is a headland on the Chinese coast bearing east southeast, and about twenty-five miles distant from Wei Hai Wei, the British naval rendezvous on the China station.

London, April 20.—The Japanese Legation here is greatly interested in the announcement of Vice Admiral Alexieff's resignation.

The opinion is expressed that if he had resigned six months ago there would have been no war, but now that hostilities are in progress the Japanese would have preferred to see Alexieff retain control.

Paris, April 20.—St. Petersburg Petit Parisiene correspondent says that when it was asserted that one of the two Japanese caught in an attempt to blow up the railway near the Mongolian frontier, belonged to the Imperial family, instructions were asked from St. Petersburg.

The reply, according to the correspondent, was, "Hang," and the order was promptly carried out.

According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Perisienne, a dispatch received from Port Arthur says that many corpses have been cast ashore and it is affirmed that fragments of a uniform enabled the authorities to identify one of the bodies as that of Vice Admiral Makaroff.

Chefoo, April 20.—Fighting has begun in Southern Manchuria at Liao Yang river, or in the valley of Tao Yang, twenty miles west. The news that comes here tonight is a day and a half old, being by boat from Lalu Island, but it confirms in every detail the news sent from this point last Sunday in relation to the Japanese transports that were north of Twiwhada Islands, near Takishan Bay.

On Monday afternoon seven Japanese cruisers with two torpedo flotillas, were escorting a fleet of transports west, evidently bound for Takushan Bay, at the mouth of the Tayang river, or for Cheng Thien.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—General Kuropatkin has sent the following telegram to the Emperor;—

"General Kashtalinky reports as follows on April 19th: 'All is quiet on the Yalu. The Japanese are throwing up entrenchments opposite Gotusay and further to the north.

" 'The number of Japanese troops is increasing.

" 'They are concentrating at Wiju and spreading toward the north along the Yalu.

" 'Cossack sentinals have observed the lights of Japanese transports near Cheng Laitse, opposite the village of Potans, 25 versts west of Taung Kau.

" 'The vessels were anchored at a distance of 50 versts from the shore. According to dispatchess from General Mistichenko, Japanese ships were also seen near Son Chow.

Eye Sufferers Attention!

Dr. J. Graham, Ure General Manager of the Great West Optical Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, B.C., has completed arrangements with MR. A. ARCHIBALD, the well-known Druggist of this city, to become Agent for the Company. Mr. Archibald will be assisted from time to time by the Company's ablest Eye Specialists, who will visit Edmonton regularly.

This is the largest exclusively optical company in Canada and aims to establish a chain of offices that will extend from the Pacific to Atlantic. It will manufacture all its own spectacles at a saving to the public of the middleman's enormous profits, and give to the small towns the services of the most competent specialists supplying glasses. Every customer receives a receipt which contains the company's guarantee of every frame sold and should anything prove unsatisfactory the company holds itself responsible and will replace or make good the glasses purchased.

This is the only company of opticians in existence that protects its clients by guaranteeing its work.

To introduce the company's specialists, and also the superior quality of their goods, very special rates will be quoted for a few days. In order to place the company's business before the general public in the most thorough and satisfactory way Dr. Ure at great inconvenience to himself has decided to personally supervise the first tour of the company's specialists. The Edmonton public therefore has an opportunity that seldom occurs of consultation and examination FREE OF CHARGE.

The Heart of the Wholesale Section in Ruins — Fire Rages for Eight Hours

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).

Winnipeg, April 21.—A Toronto dispatch this morning says the fire which raged for over eight hours in the heart of the wholesale section of the city burned itself out this morning.

While it is impossible as yet to fix the losses with anything like accuracy, it is known that they will total over $15,000,000.

The total amount of insurance is estimated at $11,000,000. Many of the companies are hard hit.

There are no wholesale stationers left in the city.

The blaze was finally mastered at the walls of the Dominion customs house.

RED DEER FIRE

The Alberta Livery Stable and a Private Residence Destroyed

Red Deer should now see the necessity of getting an up-to-date fire apparatus.

ONTARIO'S DEEP SNOW

Woodstock, Ont., April 18.—The worst blizzard and snowstorm of the winter raged in this district all last night. Over a foot of snow has fallen on the level, and consequently the railways are again blocked.

Toronto, April 16.—The observatory reports that the snowfall here last night amounted to between four and five inches. Although to-day is bright and clear the snow remains, and will probably last two or three days.

BRUNET EX-M. P. DEAD.

Montreal, April 18.—Joseph Brunet, ex-M.P. for St. James division of Montreal, died today.

WANTS MORE POLICE

Ottawa, Ont., April 19.—The annual report of the Northwest Mounted Police was presented to parliament yesterday. The commissioner estimates 350,000 as the increase in the population of the Territoreis the last year. As the growth in population is sure to continue, he asks that the force be substantially increased in number.

The field of operations this year had been tremendously widened. A detachment of five men under command of Superintendent Moodie was selected to accompany the Hudson's Bay expedition in that far distant region. Another expedition was despatched to the Arctic ocean consisting of five men under command of Superintendent Constantine. This detachment reached Fort MacPherson, on Pelly river, early in July. Superintendent Constantine, having arranged for quarters, returned to Fort Saskatchewan, leaving Sergeant Ftizgerald in charge. A non-commissioned officer visited Herschell island in August and had the honor of establishing a detachment in the most northerly place in the world.

Superintendent Constantine reports that the number of Eskimos are decreasing very fast. Last spring at MacPherson, out of a band of eighty, whose settlement was at Herschell island, some 70 died from measles, thus practically cleaning out the entire band. They did much the same as our own Indians when afflicted with the same disease, laid down in snow banks and ice to get cool while the fever was raging. Many, in fact the most of them, died on a sandbar in front of the post, some on their way home and others on arriving at the settlement. At Richards island they numbered about 300, but many also died there.

FATHER HUSSON'S VIEWS

The Rev. Father Husson, in charge of the Roman Catholic missions in the Peace River country, was in Winnipeg Saturday on his way east. Father Husson has been thirty years in the north country, has travelled over every mile of it between Athabasca Landing and the mountains, and has established all but the original Catholic mission at Dunvegan. His headquarters are at Peace River Crossing, near the Smoky and Peace rivers—the very heart of the famed Peace River district.

To an enquiry as to what he thought of Mr. Macoun's report, now the subject of animated discussion before the agricultural committee of parliament, at Ottawa, Father Husson said:

"I cannot claim to be an expert in Mr. Macoun's line, but thirty years in a country and constant travel over and through it, should give any man of average common sense a fair idea of the quality and extent of its cultivable land, its climate and its possibilities of development. A man may be an expert, but a hurried trip of a few weeks affords not much better opportunity of judging a country than is offorded a passenger travelling over the road in one of its Pullman cars. It is not always safe to draw large and general conclusions from small premises. The traveller who reached a small town on a rainy day and only met one man in the street, and he auburn haired and cross-eyed and entered in his diary that: 'Whenever I was in this town it rained, and every inhabitant I met was crossed eyed and red headed," was not a safe authority on that particular town."

SUNDAY STREET CARS

Port Arthur, April 17.—Port Arthur commenced the operation of Sunday street cars today.

The cars were only run as far as the boundary between the two towns, as the Fort William council had asked the town not to run cars through their streets until a plebiscite had been submitted. The cars were crowded all day.

THE FIGHT AT CHEMULPO

The Heroic but Hopeless Struggle of the Variag and Korietz

The battle of Chemulpo was witnessed by Bishop David H. Moore, who left Cincinnati for the Far East some months ago. The following account of the engagement is from his own pen:

Chemulpo, Feb. 12.—I left Shanghai February 6, in the Sungari, of the Russian line, plying between that city and Port Arthur. Gen. Allen, commander of our native scouts and constabulary in the Philippines, was the only other passenger, a typical high-toned Kentuckian. As he spoke Russian, we managed to get on very well with the Russian officers and crew. They were alert, the young captain not sleeping a wink the last night out. But we saw nothing until entering Chemulpo harbor, where we cast anchor Monday morning, February 8, at 8.30, near two fine Russian cruisers, Variag and Korietz. Little did we think that the next day all three ships would be at the bottom of the sea. Not a Japanese warship was in sight. Our Vicksburg, the British Talbot, a French and Italian and a Korean cruiser were anchored not far away.

Nothing unusual occurred until about 4 p. m., when a long line of Japanese cruisers, torpedo boats, and three transports—22 in all—steamed in and anchored. It was dark before the troops began to disembark—some 3,000, hardy-looking fellows, equipped for active service. The large Japanese population turned out en masse to welcome the soldiers, who were quartered in the Japanese houses. The Japanese authorities called upon all Japanese to conduct themselves with the utmost propriety and circumspection toward Koreans and foreigners, since Japan in this struggle is on trial before the civilized world.

The soldiers landed, the fleet withdrew some eight miles beyond an island and forced across the narrow channel by which alone heavy-draft ships can pass in or out—the Asama, Takashito, Gushirna, Naaivo, Chiyoda, Nitoka, and eight torpedo boats. Behind these a second line was anchored.

Tuesday, the 9th, was a lovely day, albeit the sea view was hazy. Like a shock ran through the city the report that the Japanese Consul had notified the Russians that if they did not sail out by noon they would be attacked in the harbor at 4 p. m. Soon after the following official order was made public:

"Japanese Consulate,
"Chemulpo, Feb. 8, 1904.

"Sir,—I have the honor to notify you that Rear-Admiral S. Uriu, commanding a squadron of the Imperial Japanese Navy, who is at present in Chemulpo Roadstead with the force under his command, requests me to notify you that as hostilities exist between the Government of Japan and the Government of Russia he shall be obliged to attack the men-of-war of Russia stationed at present in the port of Chemulpo with the force under his command in case of the refusal of the Russian Senior Naval Officer present to leave the port of Chemulpo before noon on the 9th of February, 1904.

"I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

Motoshero Kato,
"His Imperial Japanese Majesty's Consul."

It was further understood that in the event of non-compliance the attack in the harbor would be at 4 p.m.

The Russians decided to go out at once and stripped their ships for action. The sea was strewn with everything wooden, from topmast to skylight—everything that would splinter. Sandbags were piled up against and above the sides on deck. Every gun and every torpedo tube was shotted, and shortly before noon they steamed out, cheered by the other battleships as they passed—

"Into the jaws of death;
Into the mouth of hell."

Our mission compound commands a fine view of the harbor and roadstead and to the left and further seaward a still better view is secured. As the ships disappeared in the haze our hearts stood still with almost agonizing suspense. Then came the roar of two shots across their bows. Then, refusing to "lay to," they opened their batteries, and were opened upon by the concentrated fire of the Japanese. Fifteen minutes we thought would suffice to end the unequal combat, but earth and sea shook under the awful thunder of the guns, 30 minutes, 45 minutes, 52 minutes, and, unable to break through and scorning to surrender, the Russians swung around and steamed back to their anchorage, with their flags still flying. Sure of their prey, and perhaps unwilling to fight unnecessarily in the harbor, the Japanese did not pursue, but resumed their station in the roadstead, completely blockading the only channel. The four-funneled, Cramp-built big cruiser was evidently badly wounded, and listed to port. The Korietz, the smaller of the two, was apparently uninjured.

But we hastened too row out in a sampan to inspect for ourselves. We saw no scars or wounds on the Korietz, though the sailors were putting fresh paint on her hull here and there, as if to conceal scars, and the officer directing had his head bandaged. General Allen asked in Russian how they fared. The commander replied that they had no chance, and that at 4 p. m. the ship would go up. But the Variag was evidently sinking. She was mortally wounded amidships, and had a huge rent in her upper works. Two of her funnels were riddled and her bridge was a mass of twisted iron. A lieutenant, who was on the bridge when it was struck, was torn to pieces and blown overboard, all but his right arm and hand, which were found still holding the flag with which he was signaling orders to the Korietz.

The boats of the other warships were removing her men to the security of their own decks. The wounded were being taken on to the French and English ships—a hundred, more dead than alive. It was pathetic, the tenderness and veneration with which they handed down the Czar's portrait. Our ship, the Vicksburg, alone gave no sanctuary, though her lifeboats helped to remove the men. We hailed the first officer of the Sungari, the ship we landed from the day before.

He indicated that all was lost, and shortly after we saw the men dash below, as if to scuttle her. Now the men are hastening to leave the Korietz. We are within a few yards of her last two boats, as they put off. It is twenty minutes till four, and we recall her captain's words and hasten our rowers. There is an island surmounted by a revolving light, 600 yards away. We land and climb to its summit. The hands of the watch denote 4. Instantly a terrific explosion in the stern, and almost simultaneously another forward, sent the Korietz to its doom. Two malignant volumes of smoke and debris leap, writhing and twisting, upward, clinching and struggling, as though two monsters in mortal combat. And, as their black bodies pulled apart for a moment, the sinking sun, tearful with filmy haze, shone through.

And, list! Through the blackness of darkness and the rain of falling fragments of their ruined ship come stately and solemn and grand from the French ship, where they had taken refuge, her crew's majestic chant of the Russian National Hymn, at once their new oath of allegiance to the White Tzar and a requiem over their lost ship.

The smokestack, her gleaming prow and portions of her steel frame show where the Korietz met her fate.

Now a fierce fire rages in the bunkers of the Variag, more and more she lists to port. She has outlived the sun, but at 6 o'clock, with one great shudder, like a huge leviathan, she turns on her side and dies.

Only the Sungari remains, so recently our home. She sinks, all too slowly. A boat puts off to her from the French cruiser, and soon her beautiful upper works are a roaring furnace of flame. All night she burns and glows, and dies with the morning light.

CONDITIONS IN THE YUKON

Mr. Alfred Allayne Jones came in on Saturday from Southern Alberta to look over the prospects here. Mr. Jones spent some time in the Yukon, but came out last fall and spent the winter in California. Though he has spent only a few days in town, he is favorably impressed with its future.

Speaking of the Yukon, Mr. Jones intimated his strong faith in the permanence and progress of the country. The annual trade now amounts to more than [illegible],000 tons and among the retail stores of Dawson city are some of the largest and finest in Canada. One northern firm is capitalized at three million dollars. They occupy twelve warehouses to store up their winter reserve stock. The navigation season opens about June and the boats stop running in September. This makes the season for getting in supplies very short, but exceedingly busy. The northern summer he says is much like that of Western Canada, and the weather in the Yukon at this time of the year would be very similar to that of Alberta.

(Bulletin Correspondence)

There was a splendid dance last week at Mr. Chas. Edgson's and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. It was supposed that this would be the last dance of the season, but already there is talk of another one after seeding.

New settlers are coming in all the time and we take this opportunity of inviting intending settlers in Edmonton to come and see our country here, and we fell sure that we can satisfy them.

Prominent people in Edmonton have told the writer personally that this is the finest new settlement in the whole of the Edmonton district.

Most of these gentlemen are old-timers, and should, therefore, be good judges, and we think that these opinions speak well for the settlement.

A great advantage, too, that people coming from the east, the United States, or the Old Country, will find here, is that this is essentially an English-speaking settlement and we might add, it is not by any means small, the number of settlers here now being just under 300.

Mr. Shutt has been moving his house bodily from one corner of his quarter section to the other. He intends, however, to build again, and is already hauling lumber from the mill for that purpose.

A new settler came in last week in the person of Mr. Parton, of London, England. He has secured a suitable homestead and has now left for town to bring up his wife and family, and Miss Parton, who also came out with him.

The snow went very rapidly and it is spring all at once.

Charlie Edgson and Jim Mills are back from the bush where they have been all winter. They both look very well.

For the benefit of those who would like to come up and see this part of Alberta, they must know that we are about 52 miles north of Edmonton, though a little northwest if anything, and the best way to get here is through St. Albert and Morinville. Anybody on that road could direct people to Edison.

The weather here is simply grand and though a week ago everything was good and wet, it is all drying up now.

NORTHERN ALBERTA FISH

The following report of Inspector H. L. Young appears in the annual report of the Department of Marine and Fisheries:

Speaking generally, I may say, that the fisheries of this district are in a very satisfactory state this year. The close seasons have been enforced without much trouble. One or two prosecutions with convictions have, I think, shown that the laws must be obeyed.

Lac la Biche.—The fish in this lake are just as numerous as they ever were, large, and in good condition. During the close season which has just expired, the half-breeds on this lake were allowed to fish on the bars of the islands which have been strictly preserved for some years past, and they made a large catch of fish. The purpose of change was to give the shore bars a rest. The fishermen are using nets of six, and six and a half inch mesh in this lake.

Beaver lake.—Fish are increasing in this lake every year, it is fished by a small band of Indians who all made good catches in the time allowed them.

Beaver lake South.—This lake is now picking up again and is fairly well stocked with coarse fish.

Saddle lake, Goodfish lake, Floating Stone lake, Whitefish lake are all in Indian Reserves and protection has not been given them in the spawning season, and in consequence they are all pretty well fished out.

Little Whitefish lake.—This is a very small lake but well stocked with fish; unfortunately they spawn late and do not get all the protection they should.

Lake Ste. Anne is picking up very fast now, in two years more fish will be as plentiful there as they ever were. Fishermen in this lake this year are using nets of seven inch mesh, very few of less than six, they say they can get all the fish they require with the large sized mesh, so why kill the small fish. This action is voluntary on their part, though I have strongly commended them for it.

White Whale lake.—The quality of the fish in this lake with heavier fishing will soon leave nothing to be desired. There is considerable demand this fall for fish from this lake for shipment to the Kootenay and other points. A Winnipeg firm has a buyer here who is paying 3 3-4 cents a pound for all the round fish he can get delivered here.

Pigeon lake.—This wonderful little lake under strict protection and a long close season, shows no signs of being overfished.

Buck lake.—This lake is practically a virgin one, but with the rapid increase of settlement in this district can not long continue to be so.

The black bass put in Buffalo and Tanglefoot lakes are doing well. In Tanglefoot, being a small lake, the fish can be seen. In Buffalo lake, one was killed two months ago, that showed good growth, and none have been found dead.

(Bulletin Correspondence)

In spite of the bad roads one of the best dances of the season was held at the home of Mr. Kreye on Friday evening of last week.

Mr. Bruce Butchard who has been laid up with la grippe, is now able to be around again.

Mr. Scholtz, of Spruce Grove, has lately moved onto Mr. Matz's farm here.

A school meeting for the purpose of electing a new trustee to succeed Mr. J. J. Mohr, who resigned, took place at Stony Plain Centre school lately. As few ratepayers attended nothing was decided upon at the meeting.

Mr. Carl Mando bought one of Mr. Dan McKinley's drivers.

Mr. Peter McPhee and G. Emerson who have sawn their lumber during the winter, have started with a gang of men to raft it down stream.

Of late several Americans have settled south of Stony Plain and the land is being rapidly taken up.

MORINVILLE

(Bulletin Correspondence)

The annual meeting of ratepayers of the village of Morinville took place at the store of Gaudette and Morin, on the 14th April at 8 p.m. According to the roll of valuation the total amount of the assessment is $40,000 for the year 1904, while it was only $15,000 on the last roll (1902).

The rate was fixed at 2c per dollar.

A resolution was also passed giving power to the overseer to petition for the purpose of borrowing $500 for the construction of sidewalks, so with the taxes and loan, $1,200 will be spent in improving streets and sidewalks during the year.

Mr. N. Brissette is putting up a good building, 26x70 feet, two storeys high, for Hittinger & Steffes' hardware store.

Chevigny & Ringuette shipped to the Landing on the first week of April, 25 tons of pressed hay.

Nap. Verrier is building a restaurant near the Morinville hotel.

Jos. Caron is building a cottage roofed house.

Jos. Roy, mail carrier, is building a good stable.

The Morinville store is building a warehouse.

The stable of Jos. Couture is very nearly finished.

Two big parties of surveyors passed through Morinville going to the Peace river recently.

The road from Morinville to St. Albert is overflowed with spring water, especially where the government ditch makes an elbow or where it crosses the road and it is the intention of farmers of this settlement to petition the government to have the ditch deepened.

Mr. Adolphe Gauthier sold three town lots this week near the store of Chevigny & Ringuette.

The cheese factory will be ready to receive milk on the first week of May.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

From the Commercial: Oats—The market is firm, buyers being many, but offerings small. There is at present no surplus stock, but the demand is strong for oats of good quality. Prices are firmer. No. 2 white in car lots on the track are worth 39c to 40c here, and feed grades 37 to 37 1-2c. Farmers loads, in the country, bring 31 to 33c, and on the street here, 37 to 43c.

Barley—Malting grades are not offering. Business in feed barley is practically nominal at 42c to 43c.

—H. M. McCallum, of Sydney, Cape Breton, was in town a few days this week in connection with the proposal to establish weekly sales of cattle here, on the same principle as those held in Calgary, Moose Jaw and other western towns. After looking into conditions here and consulting with Secretary Tims of the Board of Trade, he decided that it was not wise to establish the weekly sales.

—Calgary Herald: The carrying away of the Saskatoon bridge over the Saskatchewan river means that the colonists coming to Canada for the next couple of months will have to come to Calgary, travel north to Edmonton, and sail down the river. The advantages of this route have recently been set forth. Now the colonists will have no choice but must come around this way.

—Further details of the flood at the Landing are to the effect that on Tuesday the water in the Hudson's Bay Company's warehouse was eight feet deep and three feet in the office, while in Gagnon's restaurant it was about two feet deep. All the flat boats under construction were swept away excepting those being being built by J. Fraser for Revillon Freres and those building for McDougall & Secord.

—By way of urging the C. N. R. construction the Regina Board of Trade at a recent meeting resolved that: "On condition that the construction of the road be begun at an early date and completed during the coming summer, in order that it may be in a position to handle a portion of this year's crop, this board will strongly recommend the city of Regina to deal fairly and generously with the company in the matter of a site for station, yards and terminal facilities."

—Calgary Herald: The snow slides on the Pacific division have been cleared by the C.P.R., and the delay in the arrival of the eastbound trains is caused by a number of washouts on the line. These are expected to be repaired to-day, and traffic will then be resumed. A big snowslide occurred on the Crow's Nest line near Kitchener on Saturday, and traffic was interrupted for a period of three or four hours. The slide was quite a big one, and for quite a distance was 45 feet deep on the tracks.

—Free Press: Gallagher, Holman, Lafrance Co., is the name under which a corporation composed of some of the oldest and strongest abattoir and butchering firms of the Canadian west will trade for the future. The new company has acquired the business interests of P. Gallagher & Sons, Ltd., and the Holman Meat Co., of Winnipeg. The Rat Portage Meat Co. of Rat Portage, the Port Arthur Meat Co., of Port Arthur, and Kastener & Co., of Dawson City, Yukon Territory. The business carried on will be that of general purveyors of dressed meats, cured meats and poultry and also a general abattoir and chilled meat trade. To this end the present abattoir premises on Logan avenue, west of Nena street, will be doubled in capacity and plans are being prepared for an abattoir plant at Port Arthur. Mr. T. F. Gallagher will look after the interests of the company at the Lake Superior front and Mr. Lafrance, who has charge of the Kastener business at Dawson, will have charge for the new company at that point.

—W. Luotet arrived last night from the Landing. He brings word that the danger there from the water is practically past. He left the Landing shortly before noon on Tuesday and came in on foot, no horse being available. The sawmills belonging to Messrs. Woods and Gagnon were both overturned and considerably damaged. The Hudson's Bay Company's warehouse was somewhat damaged by the grinding of the ice. The flat boats which were carried away by the water, were stranded some distance down stream and can be recovered. The flood did not reach the warehouse of Revillon Freres. He thought that the greatest damage was to the depot of the Roman Catholic mission, where the supplies for the northern missions were stored. The steamer Messenger was not carried away as reported yesterday, and comparatively little lumber was lost, as the river rose slowly for a couple of days before the jam occurred, thus giving warning which was not lost. The ice gave way about 10.30 on Tuesday and the water soon began to subside.

WILL BUILD A NEW BLOCK

The annual meeting of the Great West Implement Company was held in the office of the company last evening. The annual statement presented was satisfactory and showed the company to be in a good condition.

It was decided to proceed at once with the erection of the new block on the corner of Fraser avenue and Rice street extension.

The new block will have a 66 foot frontage on Fraser avenue and 100 feet on Rice street, and will be two storeys in height. The block will be frame, the intention being to veneer it with brick later on. A large gang of men will be put on and the work rushed to completion. Men are busy today clearing the ground for the new building.
